In his own words:

"I have served on the ASA Northwest board of directors for 12 years and just completed my term as past chairman this last year. I have served on the ASA National Mechanical Operations Committee for two years and spent this year on the ASA National Board of Directors as an appointed General Director position. I have learned a lot this year and really hope to continue to support and help lead ASA into the future. Maybe more than most, I understand the value of ASA membership and hope to grow our membership through the value of training, education and mentorship.

"...Because of my experience with other boards like church, ASA Northwest, Bellingham Tech College Automotive Advisory Board, etc., I have learned to work with others for what is best for our membership and the automotive industry.

"...After starting my own shop, I started to learn what ASA had to offer and the more active I became, the more I learned. We talk about going to training and if we only learn a couple of things it was worth it. I learn at least a couple new things at every ASA event I go to whether it is a training class, a national meeting or just my local unit meeting. I care greatly about our industry and ASA. I can't wait to see where our industry will go in the future, especially since my son is now the fifth generation to be in the automotive repair industry."
